

Happy Spaces Team

The project team is made up of four Master of Planning students from Dalhousie's School of Planning. Together, Gail Armour, Anushree Banerjee, Ashley Gaudet, and Hayley Inglis, strongly believe in creating healthy, sustainable, accessible, and happy communities. Each team member brings a level of experience from her own background: Banerjee brings an international perspective and experience researching active transportation; Gaudet and Inglis have completed projects on creating more accessible cities, and Armour brings hands-on expertise with placemaking projects.
